and everything went along in a very satisfactory manner. It was only when the Normal bill or its predecessor, the Wilson bill, was impending that business became poor and industry of every kind was threatened with stagnation. In Massachusetts the figures are available to show that even the threat of tariff reform was sufficient to create widespread distress, bad business, and many industrial disasters. According to the latest report of statistics of commerce, the yearly earnings and the total wages paid decreased noticeably under the threat of tariff reform.

For example, the wages paid in the boot and shoe industry fell from $20,477,000 in 1893 to $20,083,000 in 1894. In the box making industry, wages fell from $1,255,000 in 1893, to $1,137,000 in 1894. The decrease in the wages paid in carriage manufacture amounted to $181,000. The decrease in the clothing industry was about $135,000. The decrease in the cotton goods industry was $2,934,000, and the decrease in the wages paid to workers in electrical apparatus amounted to $433,000. The loss in wages in the manufacture of food preparations was $162,000, and in the furniture industry $250,000. The loss in machinery and machinery in wages was $1,336,000; in paper and paper goods $121,000; in some workers lost $200,000 in wages, and in the wooden goods industries, lost in wages, $775,000, while the loss in the cotton goods industry was $2,934,000, and the decrease in the wages paid to workers in electrical apparatus amounted to $433,000.

It may be said that this loss does not absolutely imply a loss in the wages paid to those operators, but that fewer men might have been employed and hence less wages paid. A statement of the average yearly earnings, therefore, will set at that question conclusively. The average yearly earnings of the operative in boots and shoes fell from $408 to $391, a decrease of about $17; the carpet workers' wages fell from $385 in 1893, to $33 in 1894; the clock workers' wages showed a slight increase, the worker in cordage and twine saw his wages fall from $140 to $139 while the worker in cotton goods had his wages reduced from $141 to $140. The worker in carriages had his wages reduced from $628 to $612. The average yearly earnings in the clothing trade fell from $39, to $38.99.

In the electrical apparatus (which was not affected by the tariff suspension) the average yearly earnings of operatives fell from $410 to $402 in furniture, from $4 to $4.5 in machines and machinery from $44 to $43.6 in paper and paper goods from $411 to $410; in some from $44 to $42.7 in wooden goods from $34 to $34.0 in woolen goods from $34.0 to $34.1 and in worsted goods from $34 to $34.1.

It will be seen that in almost all the cases the loss in total wages implied an actual loss in the yearly earnings of each operative. The Democratic campaign of tariff reform has been more costly to the Massachusetts workers. In all industries the wages have fallen on an average from $4.78 to $4.7 and the total loss in wages paid in all Massachusetts industries amounted to $11,000,000 for its home State. If all the States were to be considered the loss would be undoubtedly enormous.

It will be seen that in practically every case the tariff legislation will be enacted during the present session of Congress, there is hardly a prominent group of mills in New England in the textile industries that is not working on part time because of conditions which are directly to be attributed to tariff conditions.

In the woolen and worsted industry to day there is hardly a prominent manufacturer who has not felt severely the stress of foreign competition in the products of his mills is of some special type which foreign manufacturers have not attempted to copy, and the number of such fortunate manufacturers is small that they form little factor in the industry. The market reports show this condition of affairs so conclusively that it is hardly matter for argument. It is not tariff agitation merely but tariff reform which has brought wages from $415 in 1892 to $122 in 1894.

There is a medicine in this world which possesses the confidence of the public, and it is the only one that has stood the test of time. It is a medicine that has been used for centuries, and it is a medicine that has been tried by millions of people. It is a medicine that has been found to be effective in the treatment of a wide variety of ailments, and it is a medicine that has been found to be safe and reliable. It is a medicine that has been found to be the best of its kind, and it is a medicine that has been found to be the only one that can be trusted.

THE REPUBLICAN CLUB

Organized at a Meeting at City Hall Wednesday Evening.

Large Attendance and Much Enthusiasm Manifested at the Meeting.

A Strong Board of Officers was Elected by the New Organization.

The second meeting for the organization of the Republican Club was held Wednesday evening at City Hall with a large number present, it being estimated at 300, practically all of whom signed the constitution and with much enthusiasm manifested by the assembly.

Col. F. K. Stetson called the meeting to order and stated the object—that of organizing a Republican Club. He also saw in attendance representative Republicans who showed by their presence that they took an interest in the club. The committee had carefully looked after the interests of the organization and would submit a report for the approval of the meeting. It was to be a club of aid for the people and one to which membership would be an honor.

F. H. Parkhurst, Esq., reported for the committee on organization a constitution, which, upon his motion, was adopted by a rising vote.

The constitution was then passed among those present for signatures, by a committee composed of Mr. F. H. Parkhurst, Dr. J. F. Babcock, and Mr. H. L. George.

Mr. Parkhurst then read the by laws which were also adopted upon his motion.

(The constitution and by laws will be found upon the third page of this morning's issue.)

Mr. P. P. Boutelle reported for the committee a list of officers unanimously recommended to the favor of the meeting and moved that Col. Victor Brett cast the vote of the assembly for the officers. It was a vote and Col. Brett cast the ballot for the following who were unanimously elected:

John M. Oak Bangor
VIC PRESIDENTS
Flavius O. Seal, Bangor
Charles H. Adams, Bangor
Albert H. Day, Bangor
Elihu B. Merrill, Bangor
Herbert Gray, Oldtown
Stanley Plummer, Dexter
Jewell Powers, Bangor
Willis E. Parsons, Foxcroft
Hans (Bill) Hamlin, Litchfield
George A. Murchie, Calais

SECRETARY
Thomas J. Donovan Bangor
THE ASSEMBLY
Henry O. Pierce Bangor
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE
John M. Oak, Augustus B. Farnham, Arthur Chapman, Lehigh Station, George B. Canner, Frederick H. Parkhurst, Fred A. Porter

As President Oak stepped upon the platform he was received with hearty applause. He said it was customary for newly elected officers to make a speech but that oratory was not in his line. He thought he ought to make an apology as he saw in attendance those much better qualified to fill the office than he, but still he had the excuse that he did not seek it and pursue a political struggle. It was thrust upon him.

An excuse for eluding him president Oak would be the fact that it was to be a campaign of the common people in which we should have a possibly successful candidate for the Presidency, Thomas B. Reed (loud applause). This alone should be enough for the formation of an enthusiastic club in Bangor and they did not intend to take a back seat even for Portland with its Lincoln Club. He pledged himself to do all that was possible for the success of the club and hoped that the members would co-operate by attending the meetings.

This was to be an important campaign and if the Republicans were not successful the business interests of the country would be shattered.

Secretary Donovan stepped upon the platform and was warmly applauded. He stated his appreciation of the honor of being chosen secretary and thanked the assembly.

Dr. D. A. Robinson was called upon for remarks. He made a humorous reference to his speaking by telling the story of the boy who was put into the family of a minister who made him recite a list of scriptures. The names of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, were standing before him. He then recited the names of the three men who were in the fiery furnace. The minister threatened to send the boy to the next morning. He then recited the names of the three men who were in the fiery furnace. He then recited the names of the three men who were in the fiery furnace.

Dr. Robinson said they might stop him from speaking but they could not stop his believing in Republican principles and voting the Republican ticket. He said they were there to form a Republican club but there was not much need of it as there were few Democrats in this city. The question is who will be the next President of the United States. Some say McKinley, some Morton, some Allison, but we know it going to be Thomas B. Reed (Applause). He was glad to see present so many of the old guard, who had always been Republicans and who are the backbone and strength of the party. He was also glad to see so many young men.

It should be remembered that the old guard and the Republican party what it is and made it possible for the young men to take hold of it and carry it along. He said they didn't want any old men's club but any young men's club, but they were all in it together to accomplish anything. It should be first and last Republican from principle.

Col. Stetson said he had received a letter from Hon. Llewellyn Powers, of Houlton, regarding the club in reply to which he wrote and it was read by President Oak as follows:

Col. Daniel Stetson, Bangor, Me.
My Dear Mr. Stetson:
I have your letter stating that the Republicans of Bangor have decided to organize a Republican club of aid to Eastern industry. I am glad to hear of it. It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful.

It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful. It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful.

It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful. It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful.

It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful. It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful.

It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful. It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful.

It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful. It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful.

It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful. It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful.

It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful. It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful.

It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful. It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful.

It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful. It is a noble effort and I am sure it will be successful. I am sure it will be successful.
